Report Not True.

The report that the home and farm buildings of Michael Nugent, three miles northeast of the city, on the Jordan road, had been destroyed by fire last Saturday, was fortunately not true, and probably originated from the fact that an old "shack" owned by him and located on the marsh several miles north had been destroyed.

DIVISION MAY COME BACK

Employees in Wisconsin Central Passenger Service May Again Have Headquarters in Stevens Point.

An informal meeting of Wisconsin Central passenger conductors was held at Abbottsford last Sunday to discuss a proposed petition asking the railroad officials to make a change in division points. The prime idea of the movers is to again make a division at Stevens Point. F. G. Minnebeck and B. F. Rowen were appointed a committee to circulate the petition among conductors, after which it will be turned over to engineers, firemen and other members of the train crews. Within the next two or three weeks the papers will be submitted to the higher officials at Chicago and there is good reason to believe that the decision will be favorable to our city. Should the change be decided upon, at least twenty-five members of the various train crews will make their headquarters in Stevens Point, and as nearly all are married and have families, it will result in a considerable increase of desirable citizens.

Mrs. Pfiffner Doing Nicely.

E. J. Pfiffner returned yesterday afternoon from Rochester, Minn., where he had been for nearly two weeks, going there with Mrs. Pfiffner. The lady was operated upon last Wednesday morning, from the effects of which she is recovering nicely. Mrs. F. S. Nicholson, of Fond du Lac, will remain with Mrs. Pfiffner until she is able to return home about the middle of October. Dr. C. von Neupert, Jr., who was called to Rochester to be present during the critical period, returned to the city Friday afternoon.

Has the Kleptomaniac Fever.

There is a well known citizen of this city who it is said has the kleptomaniac fever pretty bad, and his specialty for the past few weeks has been in appropriating to himself the whole warm lunch served in a certain district. His last depredation, however, was outside of this line. Being of a musical disposition, he thought by taking a portion of a band instrument that he would make his vocal organs so much stronger. He thereupon proceeded to extract a mouth-piece from an instrument and has been exercising upon it ever since. As he did not discommode the player whom he thought to displease, we hope he is enjoying himself with his practice.

Killed in Montana Wreck.

Near Livingston, Montana, at an early hour last Friday morning, there was a collision between a freight and passenger train on the Northern Pacific railroad. Nearly twenty people were killed and as many injured. Included among the killed was Ora Babcock, fireman on the passenger engine. Mr. Babcock had a limited personal acquaintance in this city, he and his wife visiting here several days about a year ago with his uncle and aunt, Melvin Seales and Mrs. A. E. Dafeo. He was about twenty-three years of age and had been in the west four or five years. Some time ago the young man was promoted to engineer, but at the time of the fatal accident was temporarily acting as fireman.

FOUND HANGING TO A TREE

Frank Nowak, Sr., Becomes Mentally Unbalanced and Commits Suicide in the Woods in the Town of Sharon.

The body of Frank Nowak, Sr., a former resident of this city, but who had made his home in the town of Sharon for the past few years, was found hanging to a tree on the farm of Frank Kolinski, last Friday. The discovery was made by parties who were in the woods gathering acorns, and Sheriff Guyant was notified. An investigation showed that the man had used a part of a clothes line, one end of which he had securely fastened to the limb of a tree and then placed a noose around his neck in such a manner that he was strangled to death. The last time that Nowak was seen alive was the Monday before, and from the appearance of the body, which was badly decomposed, it is supposed he committed the rash deed that day. After being discovered, the body was cut down and that evening Bert Cushman and John Schmidt drove out and prepared it for burial, interment taking place in the cemetery at Polonia, Saturday morning.

The deceased was about 50 years of age, and has a wife and family in this city, with whom however, he had not lived for several years. Since leaving here he had made his home with a sister, Mrs. Geo. Ledworowski, at Polonia, and had worked about the Polish orphan home and school there, besides acting as a teamster for the Sisters in charge. His health had been poor for a long time, both mentally and physically, and it is said that he had suggested being sent to the Northern Hospital at Oshkosh for treatment. Another sister of the deceased, Mrs. Machewski, resides at Fond du Lac.

Friday Evening's Reception.

The young people of several of the churches in the city joined in giving a reception at the public library, last Friday evening, to the faculty and students of the Normal school, public schools and the Business College, and it proved to be one of the most pleasant affairs of the kind ever attempted. The library proper, the Woman's and Men's club rooms were all thrown open for the use of the guests, who were received by the clergymen and their wives. Frappe was served by young ladies. A large number of guests responded to the invitation extended and all appeared to enjoy the opportunity presented to meet new teachers and students.

Is Getting Weaker.

Mrs. John Ceary, who has been very ill at her home on Franklin street for the past couple of weeks, is in a critical condition today, with no hopes for recovery and the end may come most any hour.

AND THE RAIN DID COME

Forest Fires are Subdued by the Elements. Saturday Night—One Farmer Burned Out, Others Have Close Calls.

Last Saturday evening, following an excessively warm, oppressive day, a rain storm appeared in this locality and it was hailed with delight and pleasure by the average person as though a long lost friend had unexpectedly returned. This was the first rain Stevens Point had had in nearly three months, although some parts of the county had enjoyed an occasional shower, and we were indeed badly in need. The rain continued at intervals during the night, throughout Sunday and until midnight, and being quite general throughout the northwest, has had the effect to quench the forest and marsh fires, that have done an almost unlimited damage, representing millions of dollars. For the first time in several weeks, the air is again pure and free from smoke and cinders, while farm lands are put in a satisfactory condition for fall plowing, the ground being soaked to a depth of several inches.

Friday and Saturday were trying days for hundreds of people to the north, and especially in the vicinity of Knowlton, where the forest fires were being driven in all directions by the high winds, while for several hours on Saturday the village of Mosinee was in great danger of being wiped from the map and was saved by hard, untiring work on the part of its residents and other volunteers. Forest fires also did considerable damage in the northern part of this county, in the towns of Dewey and Hull, and several farmers lost stacks of hay that had not been removed from the marshes. As said before, the rain of Saturday night and Sunday, effectively quenched the forest and marsh fires, and was indeed a blessing.

Joseph Marzurkavich, a farmer living southwest of Junction City, in Carson township, suffered severely from forest fires, last Thursday night, his house, barns and other buildings being destroyed. The only structure left on his premises is an old log shanty, which had long outlived its usefulness as a human habitation. The season's crop of hay, grain, etc., was also reduced to ashes. It is believed that Mr. Marzurkavich carried a small insurance, which will cover only a portion of his loss.

Geo. Stertz, Wm. Bernhagen and several others who own farms a couple of miles east of Junction City, had a remarkably close call from losing their buildings, last Saturday. Fire had been burning for some time in the large marsh just to the south, which was fanned into a roaring furnace by the high wind which arose in the afternoon, and for a few hours there seemed no possibility of saving the buildings across the highway. At a critical moment the wind shifted around to the west and between 5 and 6 o'clock there came a heavy downpour of rain, quenching the angry blaze.

CITY WAS SWEEPED BY FIRE

Fond du Lac Has a Very Heavy Loss Friday Night, Including Churches, School and Scores of Residences.

Stevens Point's sister city of Fond du Lac suffered a severe loss from fire last Friday night, one of the heaviest conflagrations within its history being started in an automobile garage. In this instance Fond du Lac is called a sister city, as our interests have been so identical, from a railroad standpoint, for several years, and many former Stevens Pointers are now residents of that place. Our sympathies are therefore with them at this time. The fire started in the garage of the Crescent Auto & Machine Co., located at the corner of Marr and Second street, and is supposed to have originated from an explosion in the gasoline tank of Lieut. Gov. W. D. Connor's automobile, which had been driven from Marshfield and placed in the garage about half an hour before the fire broke out. A heavy gale, coupled with an inadequate water supply, was responsible for the spread of the conflagration and the delay in checking the path of the fire. Calls were sent to Oshkosh and Milwaukee for assistance and help arrived from Oshkosh, but the flames were gotten under control at 2 o'clock in the morning, so that the Milwaukee order was countermanded. All Fond du Lac was awakened and out to assist in fighting roof fires and helping residents in that section of the city remove their household effects and get them to a place of safety. This required the work of hundreds, but they succeeded in saving the city from destruction.

During the progress of the fire several persons were injured by falling from buildings, through holes, etc., but none very seriously. The explosion of a gas stove in the costly Elks club house, also nearly caused the loss of that building. The principal losses were as follows, the buildings completely destroyed:

St. Joseph's Catholic church and parish house, $75,000; Congregational church and parsonage, $50,000; Crescent garage and seven automobiles, $50,000; residence of Mrs. T. F. Mayham, $10,000. Besides these St. Peter's Lutheran church sustained a loss of about $10,000, the Grant school $5,000, while the homes of scores of residents were damaged more or less, bringing the total up to about $250,000. The destroyed and damaged property is said to have been quite well covered with insurance in most instances.

The residence of Mrs. Mayham, widow of the late Dr. Mayham, mayor of Fond du Lac for several terms, was a fine, costly structure, and one of the city's landmarks. Her daughter, Miss Bessie, a noted vocalist, lost a priceless musical library, besides many costly jewels, upon which she carried no insurance.

Verhulst is Milladore's Postmaster.

Jacob Verhulst will be the next postmaster at Milladore, and it is possible that the necessary formalities may be arranged to enable him to take charge of the office tomorrow, Oct. 1st. He will succeed Mrs. C. L. Petersen, who resigned a few weeks ago. Mr. Verhulst is a prosperous general merchant and furniture dealer at Milladore, moving there some years ago from Outagamie county. His appointment as postmaster gives much satisfaction to the patrons of the office.

HE WAS BADLY AFFLICTED

Missoula, Montana, Specialist Arrives in Stevens Point, Suffers from Effect of Drugs and is Sent to Oshkosh.

Dr. E. A. Crane, of Missoula, Mont., arrived in the city last Friday and registered at the Arlington House. His cards advertised the fact that he is an appendicitis and stomach specialist, and he bore every indication of being a prosperous practitioner, while his manners, when in his right mind, showed that he was an educated, polished gentleman, although his finances were practically depleted. Saturday he acted strangely and it was soon discovered that the stranger was addicted to the use of both morphine and cocaine, from which he expressed a desire to break away, but did not want to go home, he said, until he could do so, indicating that he is a married man. A collection of illustrated cards in his possession, showed that he had visited a number of cities in the east, and when asked how he happened to stop at Stevens Point, he replied that he did not know. Sunday Dr. Crane became so badly affected mentally from the use of the above named drugs, that he had to be taken in charge, and as there is no place here where he could be given proper treatment, the only alternative was to commit him to the Northern hospital. He was taken there Sunday afternoon by Merrill Guyant and A. E. Roum, and will no doubt fully recover in a short time. The Missoula physician appears to be between 40 and 45 years of age, is of medium height, dark hair, mustache and complexion.

Were Royally Entertained.

A party of eleven members of Barbara Lodge, No. 9, Daughters of Rebekah, attended a district convention at Colby last Friday, those going from here being Mesdames John R. McDonald, E. A. Arenberg, W. E. West, F. O. Hodsdon, S. S. Iverson, E. G. Scott, B. R. Finch, T. A. Humphrey, Jas. H. Altenburg, Chris Geisler and Miss Mary Frazer. The visitors, who included delegations from the seven lodges in the district, were entertained in a most royal, hospitable manner by the members of the sister lodge at Colby, and they could not but be pleased with their visit. Two Stevens Point ladies were honored by being selected as officers, Mrs. Arenberg as secretary and treasurer and Mrs. West as marshal.

Political Parties to Organize.

T. H. Hanna has called a meeting of those elected at the recent primary, to be held at his office next Saturday afternoon, when the Democratic county committee will be duly organized and officers elected. The Republican county committee meeting will be held at the office of Geo. B. Nelson on the same day for the same purpose.

Neshkoro Bank is Prosperous.

Carl S. Orthman, cashier of the Farmers Exchange bank at Neshkoro, Marquette county, and formerly associated with the First National bank in this city, visited friends here last Sunday. The Neshkoro bank opened July 6th and their report to the state banking department at the close of business Sept. 23 showed deposits of $20,214.41, or more than double the capital stock of $10,000. Neshkoro is surrounded by a good farming country and many high grade granite quarries are in the immediate vicinity.

Football Next Saturday.

The local High school team will line up against Waupaca next Saturday, Oct. 3, at the fair grounds. Waupaca has an exceptionally strong team and a lively exhibition of foot ball may be looked for.

The lineup for the Stevens Point High is as follows: Right end, Love, Welch; right tackle, Weltman, Grant; right guard, Maddy, Halladay; center, Dobeck; left end, Edwards; left tackle, Pierce; left guard, Grant, Harriman; quarter, Griffin, Welch; right half, Kryger, Ondracek; left half, Bigelow; full, Woodworth.

The game will be called promptly at 2:30; admission 10 and 15 cents.

The revised football schedule is as follows: Waupaca at Stevens Point, Oct. 3; Waupaca at Waupaca, Oct. 10; Wausau at Wausau, Oct. 17; Grand Rapids at Grand Rapids, Oct. 24; Merrill at Stevens Point, Oct. 31; Merrill at Merrill, Nov. 7; Grand Rapids at Grand Rapids, Nov. 14.

SCHOOLS ARE CROWDED.

The Question of Erecting a New Building in the Second Ward, Revived by Board—Budget for Next Year.

The Board of Education met in adjourned meeting, Monday evening, with the following members present: Park, Krembs, Young, Bruce, Clements, Blood, Worzalla, Land. A bill of $5.25 for labor performed by G. E. and Eugene Cooper, was presented and allowed. The clerk read communications from furnace companies relative to changing the closet system in the 3d ward, but no action was taken.

President Young spoke of the present crowded condition of several of our schools, and that the board should commence creating a fund with which to erect a new building on the Old White School grounds, as the time is approaching very rapidly when we must have another school. Mr. Park thought the better way would be to call upon the council to issue bonds, which could be paid off in small installments and entail no hardship on the taxpayers. Supt. Davis said that the present enrollment in the High school is 165, the highest in its history, with the prospect that it will be still higher next year. While all pupils have been accommodated thus far, a further increase, he said, would compel the removal of the 8th grade to other quarters. Further, Mr. Davis said, another teacher in the High school must be secured in the near future, possibly during the present year.

Mr. Gruenhagen, instructor in the manual training department, addressed the board relative to buying 7 or 8 more sets of drafting instruments, to cost about $4, each, less a discount of about 40 per cent. That department, which started two years ago with an enrollment of 6 or 7, now has 38 pupils. The matter of purchasing instruments was left to the committee on supplies, with power to act. Supt. Davis spoke of purchasing one or more second hand pianos for the kindergartens, and either the superintendent or clerk will be pleased to receive offers.

The committee on finance presented the following estimate of the amounts that will be necessary to conduct the schools during the coming year, requesting the mayor and common council to place the same in the tax roll for the year 1908, and the report was adopted:

Supt. and Teachers.....	$29,800
Janitors.....	3,500
Fuel.....	3,000
Repairs and supplies.....	3,500
Insurance.....	900
Rents.....	300
Stenographer.....	300
Printing.....	200
Estimated receipts.....	$41,500
Bal. in tax roll.....	$33,000

This is $7,000 less than the amount raised for the schools last year.

Woman's Rights.

How the husband would swear if he had to do the baking these hot days. How long would he wait before he came down to Gross & Jacobs' hardware store and bought a bread maker? He would come on the double jump as soon as he saw the first advertisement.

Some of the skeptical ladies of this community are still waiting until their husbands force them to adopt the "Universal," on account of the economy of the thing and on account of the more sanitary nature of it.

Some have never seen it and of course don't believe it will do the work. That is why Miss Putnam is here. She's from Missouri herself. Come along all of you.

MARRIED IN SEPTEMBER.

Announcement of Four Marriages of Local Interest Appear Below in Today's Issue of The Gazette.

JOSEPH-BRUSWITZ.

Oscar H. Joseph, son of Mrs. Augusta Joseph, 307 Pine street, will be married tomorrow to Miss Lottie S. Bruswitz, of North Fond du Lac, the ceremony to take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bruswitz. The groom is a well known young Stevens Point, and at present is employed for a lumber company at Milan, Marathon county. He no doubt has made an excellent selection in the choice of a wife, and all join in wishing them unlimited success and happiness.

RELL-O-MEARA.

Miss Mayme O'Meara, of Merrill, and Edward A. Rell, of Spirit Falls, Lincoln county, were married at 9 o'clock last Thursday morning at St. James Catholic church at Wausau. After a short wedding trip, the young couple are now at home at Spirit Falls, where the parents of the groom reside. The bride, who is a daughter of Mrs. P. O'Meara, of Merrill, and formerly of this city, has taught school in Lincoln county for the past few years and is well known in Stevens Point and the town of Stockton, where she has a number of relatives. The best wishes of many friends follow.

SPANGLE-LAWTON.

Frank Spangle, a well known young freight conductor on the Central, and whose father, Paul Spangle, resides at 118 Kingston street in this city, was married to Miss May Lawton, a young Portage lady, last week, the ceremony being performed at St. Mary's Catholic church, in the latter city, by Rev. Father Morrissey. They were attended by Stephen Marx, of Kenosha, and Miss May Fitzpatrick, of Madison. Following a short wedding reception, the young couple left on a trip to the west, and on their return will be at home at 516 Wisconsin avenue, North Fond du Lac.

LEONARD-HUSE.

Jas. W. Leonard and Miss Catherine M. Huse were married at St. Mary's Catholic church, Burlington, Wis., last Wednesday, Rev. J. O'Callaghan officiating. Edward Green, of New York, and Miss Margaret Morse, of Chicago, were the attendants. The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Leonard, of Stockton, and the young couple expect to spend a month here. For the past few years he has been in the employ of the Oliver Mining Co. as stenographer and bookkeeper, being located at Duluth much of the time. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Huse, of Burlington, her father being engaged in the wholesale cigar business, and she has been interested in millinery stores there, at Madison and other points. This has been the home of the groom practically all his life, and his friends tender their heartiest congratulations.

Temperance Convention at Waupaca.

The state W. C. T. U. convention opens at Waupaca next Friday morning and continues three days. The first evening a lecture will be delivered by Mrs. Lenora M. Lake of St. Louis, third vice president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America. Mrs. Lake is recognized as one of the foremost speakers on the platform at the present time. Stevens Point will be well represented at this convention, among those who have thus far decided to attend being Mrs. Sam Hagan, Mrs. O. Parmeter, Mrs. Geo. Whitney, Mrs. D. J. Kelsey and Mrs. O. Howard.

Two Up-to-Date Hotels.

There is perhaps no town of its size in the state that has better or as good hotel facilities as Junction City, which now possesses two firstclass hostleries. Last year the Commercial House was remodeled and among the noticeable improvements was a modern heating system. For the past several months A. L. Voyer, proprietor of the Voyer House, has employed a large crew of workmen, who are now putting the finishing touches on a three story addition to this hotel, the two upper floors of which have been divided into ten sleeping rooms. A large and handsome dining room occupies the entire lower floor. This room is a veritable beauty, and to a couple of Stevens Point young men—Chas. L. and Wm. F. Berndt, Jr.—is due a large share of credit for the artistic decorations. The new addition was erected under the supervision of Jed Chenevert, also of this city, assisted by Eugene Willard of McDill and several mechanics at the Junction.

BLOOD

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor. There is nothing else to live on or by. When strength is full and spirits high we are being refreshed—bone, muscle and brain, in body and mind—with continual flow of rich blood. This is health. When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it. Back of the blood is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take

NOT A PARTISIAN QUESTION

Good Roads Plank in Both Republican and Democratic National Platforms—Support Due From All Parties.

The good roads issue is rapidly coming to the front. Both the Democratic and Republican state platforms at the last election had planks favoring good roads and this year both national platforms have planks strongly commending the good roads movement. Mr. Bryan in a talk on good roads given before a national good roads convention at Pittsburg made the following statement: "The farmers belong to the common people, and the common people of this country have not had their share of attention from this government. When I tell you that our government appropriates something like forty-three times as much a year for the army and navy as for the Department of Agriculture, you will see the farmer has not received the attention he deserves, when you consider either his numbers or the importance of his business."

Mr. Taft is reported as saying, "I have built roads in the Philippines and our government has paid for them. If we can do this for our island possession, I do not see why we should not do as much for our people at home." Wisconsin is the only state in the Union that forbids the state to aid the farmers to build roads. All other states that had such a provision have changed it, and it is hoped that our state will take advantage of the opportunity at the November elections and change the constitution so as to permit state aid for roads. Men of all parties should support it, as it is a broad measure and concerns the public welfare.

"Shall the People Rule?"

These campaign issues underlie Mr. Bryan's proposition that this year hereafter it is a question of: "Shall the people rule?"

1. Popular election of senators.
2. Publicity of campaign contributions before election.
3. Valuation of railroad properties by the government.
4. Lowering of the tariff.
5. Injunctions.
6. The trusts.

On No. 1 the Republican platform is silent; the Democratic favors.

On No. 2 the Republican platform is silent; the Democratic is for publicity before election.

On No. 3 the Republican platform is silent; the Democratic declares for it, besides covering every commendable point set forth in the Republican utterance.

On No. 4 the Republican platform is silent; the Democratic favors.

On No. 5 the Republican platform makes vague promises; the Democratic offers protection to labor by prevention of issuance of decrees when in other than labor disputes they would not issue.

On No. 6 the Republican platform actually proposes to legalize trusts; the Democratic to prevent private monopoly.

If the foregoing omissions be endorsed and the Republican party returned to power, these issues having been openly raised, what complaint can the people make if their rule be further prevented, as it has been in the past? Could conclusion be plainer?

Shepard for Bryan.

Edward M. Shepard of New York has issued a statement in which he reiterates his intention of supporting Mr. Bryan in the coming campaign, explaining the reasons for his stand. Mr. Shepard declares that the Republican candidate has committed himself to three policies, the continuance of which cannot but "be dangerous to the future welfare of our country"—namely, the protective tariff, imperialism, and Mr. Roosevelt's program. Here is Mr. Shepard's statement: "I shall support Mr. Bryan for the presidency. The issues being at the last fully made up, I am unable to see that Americans (of whom I count myself one) who cherish the traditional and beneficent Democracy, which was signally represented by Mr. Cleveland, can rightly do otherwise than support Mr. Bryan. I say this notwithstanding Mr. Cleveland's article which has been published several weeks after his death. The article plainly enough and intrinsically shows—and we should naturally infer from Mr. Cleveland's long illness and the time of his death—that it was not prepared for the campaign with the issues which we now have or that it represented a conclusion on his part to support Mr. Taft or oppose Mr. Bryan. I cannot think it quite fitting or fair that the article should have been published at this time."

A PIONEER FOUND DEAD UNITED PARTY WILL WIN

Delos Campbell, a Resident of This County for Many Years, Dies Alone in Linwood Cabin.

Delos Campbell, who for many years had lived in the town of Linwood, west of this city, and was among the pioneers of that township, was found dead in bed in his unpretentious home between 7 and 8 o'clock last Wednesday evening. He spent a part of Monday in the city, and the next day worked about his place, cutting and shelling a small piece of corn. He apparently retired as usual in the evening, after eating supper and putting things in order for the following morning, but for him there was no awakening.

He was not noticed about during Wednesday, but nothing strange was thought of this, and in the evening when W. D. Kelly, a neighbor, went to his place with a can of milk, he was unable to gain admittance, the door being locked on the inside. Peering through the window he could see Mr. Campbell lying on the bed, and after assistance had been summoned an entrance was effected. It was quickly ascertained that the man was dead, the body being cold and rigid, he undoubtedly having passed away during Tuesday night. Death was no doubt due to heart disease with which he had suffered for a long time, as well as with asthma and dropsy.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon, the remains being brought here for interment in Forest cemetery, Rev. James Blake officiating.

After the picnic dinner at the court house lawn, last Friday afternoon, the Portage County Soldiers' Picnic Association held its business meeting, at which time H. H. Loses Valuable Percheron.

A thoroughbred Percheron stallion, exhibited at the Stevens Point fair a few weeks ago, and owned by L. E. Evans of Wild Rose, is dead from tetanus. It was while here that the first appearance of anything wrong manifested itself. He was led home by easy stages and the best medical assistance secured but the disease could not be checked. The primary cause of the tetanus is something for the doctors to settle, as in no respect had he suffered any kind of an injury, not even a slight one. The animal was valued at $1,000.

Not Successful Financially.

The Northern Wisconsin State fair, held at Chippewa Falls, was the best held in Wisconsin this year, outside of the State Fair, and although its total receipts, including the amount to be received from Madison as a percentage on premiums and races, will amount to about $28,000, there is still a shortage of $3,000 or over. Every person who will take the trouble to ascertain the facts, cannot fail to realize that fairs, although generally a success socially and from an educational point, are the reverse financially.

A Business Change.

The Minneapolis bakery, at the South Side, has changed hands, Mocogni Bros. being succeeded by Wm. D. and Ralph E. Gee, well known residents of the Sixth ward. Fred Beidatsch, a Milwaukee baker, will look after the bakery department, arriving here with his family the last of the week. Mocogni Bros. will devote their entire attention to the management of the Star Theatre, of which they are proprietors.

Greeted by Many Friends.

Among the many visitors who were here on the 24th and 25th to take part in the reunion and enjoy the hospitality of the survivors of the 21st Wis. Regimental Association and our own beautiful city, we had the pleasure of shaking hands with our esteemed old time friend, formerly Mrs. Wm. E. Simons, and her husband, Ethan D. Allen, of the Wisconsin Veterans' Home, Waupaca. Mrs. Allen enjoys the most popular position of being one of the most popular matrons of the home, she being in charge of "Roberts Hall," a dormitory over the laundry department occupied by the nurses employed at the hospital. She has held this position for two years, enjoying the esteem and confidence of those under her charge and the management of the home as well.

She has nothing but words of praise for those in authority, and heartfelt thanks for the kind treatment she has received at their hands during the five years she has spent at this institution. Her relatives and hosts of acquaintances in and near the city are always glad to welcome her to their homes, where she spent nearly a quarter of a century of her life.

Mr. Allen is a member of the 5th N. Y. heavy artillery association, whose regiment served three years, enlisting in 1862. The regiment saw service in several campaigns, notably those in Shenandoah valley, with Hunter and Sheridan; assisted in constructing several forts and breastworks for defense of the capitol, and took part in the same for nearly a year in the earlier part of their enlistment.

National Chairman Norman E. Mack Shows How Democrats Always Triumph When Solidified.

The campaign is just half over. The preliminaries have been going on for six weeks, and we have six weeks, left before election.

I say now without any fear of contradiction that the Democracy of the nation is absolutely united from Maine to California. There is no internal dissension, no friction of any kind, so far as I can discover, in any of the states where the contest is waging.

The Democratic party never lost an election when the party was united.

The Republican party is due to be defeated, and the Democratic party is due to win.

Mr. Bryan is making a magnificent campaign. Beginning with his speech of acceptance, followed by his tariff and guarantee of bank deposit speeches, his utterances have been received by the Democracy as well as by the public at large as the keystones of the principles at issue.

No Democrat, whether he be a Parker Democrat or a Bryan Democrat, so far as I have heard, has had any criticism to make of the principles enunciated in those speeches. The platform adopted at the Denver convention seems to have solidified the party.

Mr. Bryan's speeches in the east have met with the same general approval of party and public as those given in the west. The public seems to have gotten over the idea that his election means any disturbance of business conditions. As a matter of fact, the public is rapidly getting the impression that prosperity will be more general in event of Democratic success.

The reception accorded to Mr. Bryan at the Rochester convention was a striking example of the unanimity of opinion of all kinds of Democrats and citizens regardless of party in favor of our candidate. In that convention were represented all shades and kinds of party leaders. No matter what views they might have on local questions, they were of one mind toward the national candidate.

If I am not mistaken, all this indicated the triumphant election of Bryan and Kern.

The east no longer is the "enemy's country," so far as William Jennings Bryan is concerned.

Senator Lockney, of this city, made a telling point in the Republican state platform convention at Madison Wednesday, when he asked, in reference to the minority tariff plank, which he claimed to be identical in wording with that supported in the national convention by twenty-five out of the twenty-six Wisconsin delegates. "If it was good enough to receive the support of Senator Stephenson then, isn't it good enough for his friends now?" But Senator Stephenson, it is apparent, has changed front after securing the endorsement he sought. His tariff revision position was only a sham. He is without doubt about as rank a "stand-patter" as anybody, and the people of Wisconsin will find that to be a fact if he is returned to the United States senate.—Waukesha Dispatch.

McCULLOCH'S

E. A. Edmonds, of Appleton, was elected as chairman of the Republican State Central committee at Madison, last week, while Backus, the LaFollette candidate, was turned down. The discussions on both sides were fast and furious, not to say personal. This may mean something—and it may not.

Mr. Charles G. Dawes, once Comptroller of the Currency, now like all people who have held that office, a financial power in the land, once wrote a book on American banking. In that book he took strong grounds in behalf of the guaranty of bank deposits as urged by Mr. Bryan. When this fact was brought out several days ago Mr. Dawes pleaded that his expression in favor of the doctrine was an error of his early youth, and that now he was convinced that it was decidedly an error. The explanation makes one wonder whether when Mr. Dawes was depositing money in a bank he did not believe as he then wrote that the bankers should give him security for his deposits, and that he repudiates that expression now because he is taking deposits instead of making them. The shoe seems to be on Mr. Dawes' other foot.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE

Appeal to Democrats for Bryan and Kern Campaign Funds, from the Democratic National Committee.

Editor The Gazette:—There are no secrets in this campaign. Strictly practicing what he preaches, Mr. Bryan would not win victory with tainted money paying the election expenses. Not a dollar is to be accepted which requires any promise, either express or implied, other than for honest, impartial government. Mr. Bryan will enter the White House absolutely free from entangling alliances, free to serve all classes of honest citizens alike, or he will not enter it at all.

Hence the course is plain. The campaign of Bryan and Kern must be conducted by the people. The people must pay the necessary campaign expenses if they want public servants who will serve their interests. Special interests and favored classes, having secured "swollen fortunes" by purchasing favors in the past with millions contributed to control elections, stand ready to give millions more for continued favors. But that class never gives a dollar unless it buys a pledge.

Mr. Bryan says, from March 4th, 1909, "Let the people rule." This can come only if the people pay their own bills, and control their own elections. "Beware of the trusts bearing gifts." That policy of the favored few buying a mortgage on the government meant that the candidate for president knew a few people only in an entire state. Bryan says, "We will take the cause of people's rule home to the people in every county."

You can serve the grand cause of popular government through the columns of your paper. It reaches the fireside of the patriot who loves his country for his country's good; as distinguished from the greedy possessor of swollen fortunes who loves his country only for his country's goods. Please carry this letter at the masthead of your paper, asking every one who favors government by the people to pay you, at once, as many dollars as he can spare to aid the campaign for Bryan, Kern and the People's Rule. You forward these gifts of honest hearts and homes every week to the treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, with the name of each contributor and amounts given. The treasurer will forward you a certificate like the copy enclosed for each one, asking you to deliver these certificates.

Once more, you should be a part of the great organization bearing the lamp of light to every nook and corner of free America. Our country is for the people; its government must be by the people.

Bryan's reception in the west by Republicans so alarmed the Republicans that they reversed their positions and announced that Taft will go on the stump in the west. Mr. Bryan is now on his way east. After the Republicans find out how popular he is in New York and adjacent states, they will send Taft to the east. But this is another year like 1892 and the Republican candidate has been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

In the letter which ex-president Cleveland is said to have written there is but one or two statements that sound like Mr. Cleveland. One is: "It is not likely that the business interests of the country will be disturbed by the victory of either party." The attempt to make the voters believe that Bryan's election would injure business is the last gasp of Republican jeremiads. One of the things business needs is Democratic economy. The Federal tax on every man, woman and child is now $12 annually, and it increases every year under Republican rule. There is only one way to end extravagances and thus protect business men: Elect Bryan.

A Paying Investment.

John White, of 38 Highland ave., Houlton, Maine, says: "Have been troubled with a cough every winter and spring. Last winter I tried many advertised remedies, but the cough continued until I bought a 50 cent bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery; before that was half gone, the cough was all gone. This winter the same happy result has followed; a few doses once more banished the annual cough. I am now convinced that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best of all cough and lung remedies." Sold under guarantee at H. D. McCulloch Co.'s. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

If any member of the late President Cleveland's cabinets has been lauded by Republicans, that member is Richard Olney, who was secretary of state. Mr. Olney has written exhaustively this year to demonstrate that, not only all Democrats should vote for Mr. Bryan, but that Republicans should do the same. It will be interesting, not to say edifying, to read what Republican newspapers will say of Mr. Olney's statement.

With the inevitable retirement of Foraker and his understudy Dick two years thereafter, there will be a new senatorial deal for Ohio. Ohio is not lacking in senatorial material. There are Garfield, Herrick and Burton, these three and possibly a dozen others, but the greatest of them is Burton, who is now a member of the lower House. He will doubtless be elected in Foraker's place or in Dick's. When Theodore Burton is senator, Ohio will be represented in the upper house with an ability unsurpassed since the time of Allen G. Thurman.

The Republicans are boasting of what Taft accomplished in the Philippines. "A Returned Exile" writing to the New York World thus concludes: "Now, one word further about the Philippine Assembly. Mr. Taft publicly announced that the Philippine Assembly has succeeded. Well, this is how it succeeded: First, they voted to raise their own salaries from 20 to 30 pesos per diem; second, they passed a law to reduce the salaries of all Americans by one-third; third, in order to clear obstacles to insurrection they voted to cut down the number of constabulary soldiers from 5,000 to 3,000 enlisted men. And last, they yelled for independence and then Mr. Taft felt highly gratified."

Good for Biliousness.

"I took two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets last night, and I feel fifty per cent. better than I have for weeks," says J. J. Firestone, of Allegan, Mich. "They are certainly a fine article for biliousness." For sale by H. D. McCulloch Co. Samples free.

Walter Wellman, a justly celebrated political writer of Republican proclivities, affirms that in his opinion Taft will be elected; but that the Republicans have on their hands the fight of their lives. Well, we cheerfully admit the latter portion of his affirmation. All the signs point to this campaign being the very thing Mr. Wellman says it is—the Republican party's fight of or for its life—its continuance at the public crib, its use of government for private ends, its fostering of trusts, its denial of the proposition that the people should rule.

The Republican platform declares for the control of monopoly; the Democratic platform demands eradication of monopoly—trusts. The Republican party wishes to legislate to legalize certain monopolies—trusts. Watered stocks are recognized as a grave evil. The steel trust watered its securities from $360,000,000 of constituent companies to $1,600,000,000 as they now stand. The dominant party never has antagonized the steel trust, never has begun operations through the courts to prevent it from continuing to violate the federal law against combinations in restraint of trade. If trusts be legalized through Republican legislation, will not the steel trust then be one of the "good" trusts to be merely controlled, and not eradicated?

FISH SUPERSTITIONS.

Queer Old Time Notions, Some of Which Still Survive.

The one fish medicine of which modern science thoroughly approves is cod liver oil, and this, though in far less nauseous form than formerly, is swallowed in tons every year.

In old days a much wider use was made of fish as cures for various evils, and some of these practices have survived to the present day. Some little time ago a boy died of epilepsy in a north Wales parish. The doctor, called in too late, inquired if the deceased had been given any medicine. "Oh, yes," was the answer. "We caught a trout, drowned it in new milk and gave it to the boy."

Eels are supposed to possess all kinds of virtues. In the dark ages of medicine a powder made of eels' liver was considered an absolute specific for deafness and was also employed in cases of ague or fever. A decoction of eels' fat is still used by Dutch peasants as a remedy for falling hair.

But the most valuable part of the eel, according to popular superstition, is its skin. Many an old farmer wears a belt of eelskin as a preventive against rheumatism, and some believe that a garter made of the skin of this snake like fish worn next to the human skin as a preventive not only against rheumatism, but also against sprains or similar injuries.

Another cure for rheumatism, which finds favor with salt water fishermen, is a red herring. The herring being the most plentiful of all the sea fish, a number of superstitious have attached themselves to it. For luck through the ensuing year one must be sure to eat a herring on New Year's day.

Fishermen believe that each shoal is headed by a king herring, which is more than double as large as any of its followers. They believe that when one of the "kings" comes up in the net it should be thrown overboard; otherwise the next day's fishing will be a failure. —Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

THE HEADSMAN.

He Used the Sword and Not the Ax Prior to 1483.

I am inclined to think that prior to 1483 the sword and not the ax was usually employed as the weapon for judicial decapitation and that a block was dispensed with, the victims receiving their doom "meekly kneeling upon their knees," and in this opinion I am fortified by the concurrence of an eminent clerical historian. This learned writer agreed with me that the ax did not become the "regulation" lethal implement until after the rough and ready "beheading" of Lord Hastings on the Tower green, when he was summarily dispatched by order of the protector, Gloucester.

In this instance, according to the chroniclers, the victim's neck was stretched upon a piece of timber then in use for the repair of the adjacent church of St. Peter ad Vincula, probably a "putlog," part of the scaffolding which, we read, "conveniently lay in the way." Contemporary accounts seem to indicate that the executioner straddled over the prone body, and from this position I infer that the decapitation was effected by the tool known as an adz, the cutting edge of which is at a right angle to and not in a plane with the haft.

I may add that the only contemporary reference I have come across of the use or proposed use of an ax and block for inflicting capital punishment prior to this tragedy is in one of the Paston series of letters describing the peril of an unfortunate captive of Jack Cade's rebels (A. D. 1450), a generation before Lord Hastings was so clumsily hacked to death.—London Notes and Queries.

The Hair.

A single hair, which can support a weight of two ounces, is so elastic that it may be stretched to one-third of its entire length and then regain its former size and condition. Dr. Pincus has measured the growth of hair by cutting off circles about one inch in diameter from the heads of healthy men and so comparing the growth of the patches with that of the rest of the hair. He found that the growth rate generally became slower after cutting; that in some cases the hair on the patches grew at the same rate as the rest, but that it never grew any faster.

The ordinary length of the hair on the head ranges between twenty-two inches and about forty-five inches, the latter being considered unusually long. —London Standard.

Beetles.

The Rev. Theodore Wood, a well known English authority on beetles, makes an interesting observation on a little beetle found frequently in the flowers of the primrose, but nowhere else, which is quite a mystery. It is small, brown and fat, and Mr. Wood remarks of it: "How its life is lived nobody knows. Where its eggs are laid, what it eats, how it feeds upon, where the chrysalis is hidden, nobody knows. Nobody knows even why the perfect beetle gets it to the primrose blossom."

An Easy Way.

"In order to succeed in life," said the experienced man, "you must not be afraid to make enemies."

"Then," answered the tractable youth, "you would probably advise me to put in some time as a baseball umpire." —Washington Star

Danderine

PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, losing its supply of moisture or nutriment, when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25 cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an east bound O. R. & N. R. train from Pendleton to LeGrande, Ore., writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic; her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a deathlike look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into LeGrande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into LeGrande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." Private Allen of Mississippi was at one time the humorist of the House of Representatives in Washington. His mantle fell on J. Adam Bede of Minnesota, who has just been retired from the House. They will have successors in wit, perhaps, but at present their equals in quip and jest are not on the floor.

How to Get Strong.

P. J. Daley, of 1247 W. Congress street, Chicago, tells of a way to become strong: He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney trouble. Sold under guarantee at H. D. McCulloch Co.'s. 50c.

Rev. Webster Millar, who has had charge of the M. E. church here during the past year, left on Monday to attend the conference at Milwaukee. From there he will go to Boston, Mass., to complete his course in theology, which will require an absence of three years.

Louis Schlecht, of Wausau, formerly a resident of this city, went out hunting with a couple of friends, last week, and in passing over a log, slipped and fell to the ground. The trigger of his loaded gun caught on some brush and it went off, the charge entering the foot of Paul Riebes, who was directly behind him. Louis anticipated what was coming and as he fell, dropped his gun, or the shot might have been fatal to his companion.

At 6:30 in the evening there was a banquet in Masonic Temple and it was partaken of by 136 old soldiers, their wives and members of the Woman's Relief Corps, the dinner being served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church. The guests were welcomed in appropriate words by E. M. Copps, commander of the Stevens Point Post, and the response was made by John Dey, president of the association, who later acted as toastmaster, after which a blessing was given by Rev. W. R. Brown, chaplain at the Veterans' Home. After dinner pleasant but brief remarks were made by Col. J. A. Watrous, Chaplain Brown, H. L. Bacon, A. W. Ballard, Col. Woodnorth and others, and songs were sung by Capt. Densmore of the Veterans' Home and M. J. Rawson of Madison, while nearly all present joined in singing the old army songs.

Friday forenoon the annual business meeting of the association was held at Rothman's hall, when the secretary and treasurer read his report, as did also the chaplain, and letters of regret were read from several members who could not attend. Addresses were made by E. D. Davis of Oshkosh, Dr. Brett of Green Bay, Frederick Reitz of the Veterans' Home, J. F. Reardon of Manitowoc, Col. Watrous of Milwaukee, Henry Clark of Oshkosh, Geo. W. Ghoca of Waupaca and S. A. Cook of Neenah. Messrs. Ghoca, Watrous, W. M. Walker of Oshkosh and E. McGlachlin and E. M. Copps of this city were elected as honorary members of the regiment, after which the following officers were elected for the year: Pres., E. D. Davis, Oshkosh. 1st Vice—A. W. Ballard, Omro. 2nd Vice—H. L. Baker, Oshkosh. Sec. and Treas.—J. H. Woodnorth, Waupaca.

Chaplain W. R. Brown, Veterans' Home.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved: That we, the survivors of the Twenty-First Regiment Wis. Inf., in reunion assembled, hereby extend our most sincere thanks and heartfelt gratitude to the comrades of Stevens Point for the interest taken by them in making our twenty-first annual reunion one of the most enjoyable we have ever had, and most especially so we thank our comrades Copps, McGlachlin and Stoddard for the earnest and indefatigable work performed by them. We also extend our thanks to the ladies of Stevens Point and to the citizens in general whose work contributed so much to our enjoyment. We shall always look back to our reunion of 1908 as one of the most enjoyable in the history of our organization and ever feel grateful to those whose efforts made it so.

Resolved, That the secretary be and he is hereby instructed and directed to furnish copies of this resolution to the papers, with request to publish, and to the G. A. R. Post of Stevens Point and to body them in the printed proceedings of our reunion.

I hereby certify that the foregoing resolutions were unanimously adopted by a rising vote this 25th day of Sept., 1908.

Omro was selected as the next place for holding the annual meeting. At the close of the business session the veterans marched to the music of the fife and drum to the court house lawn, where after a short address by Chaplain Brown, Messrs. Buckingham, Shumway and Cowles sang "America." Rev. C. F. Spray invoked the divine blessing, grace was said by Rev. John A. Stemen and thereafter a sumptuous and beautiful picnic dinner was served by the ladies of the Relief Corps. It was intended to have one or more addresses at the close of the dinner hour, but most of the visitors were anxious to leave for their respective homes on the afternoon trains and hence that part of the program was omitted.

The "poor man's candidate" for U. S. senator in the recent primary election, Francis E. McGovern, of Milwaukee, presents a statement showing his campaign expenses amounted to the neat sum of $11,063.88. Just wait until you hear from Stephenson, Cook and Hatton.

The appointment of Herman Ridder, of the New York Staats Zeitung, to succeed Gov. Haskell, who resigned as treasurer of the Democratic National committee, was an excellent selection. Gov. Haskell, against whom charges had been made by W. R. Hearst, did not want to embarrass the candidacy of Wm. Jennings Bryan in any way, hence his resignation.

Senator LaFollette introduced Secretary Taft upon the latter's appearance before the Farmers' convention at Madison, last week, but besides a nice talk on agriculture and a limited personal puff for Mr. Taft, said little or nothing as to the latter's candidacy for the highest office within the gift of the greatest nation in the world.

James Edward Jones, editor of the Portage Democrat, is the Democratic nominee for congress in the Second district, and if the voters in that part of the state show good, wise judgment they will elect Ed. Jones by a big majority on the 3d of November. Mr. Jones is endowed with exceptional ability, has a broad knowledge of governmental affairs, knowing the wants of the people, and has a public record that will stand the closest scrutiny and investigation. His past work and efforts in behalf of his city, county and district, should ensure his election.

Col. Wm. J. Bryan made a number of addresses in southern Wisconsin, last Saturday, before reaching Madison, but all were necessarily brief, as he was riding on a regular train, which stopped but from three to five minutes at each place. At Madison he kept the train waiting for over half an hour, however, while he addressed thousands of people, including the delegates to the National Congress of Farmers. Bryan does not seem to be as fortunate as Taft in having special trains placed at his command wherever he goes, possibly because he does not stand in with the great combinations and trusts.

The surrounding forests were burning, and on Thursday Mr. Welch secured twelve teams and on Friday had nine, with which all the hay was hauled home and safely stored away under cover. The work was completed just in time, as that night fire swept over the entire marsh.

L. H. Moll, who is enjoying a good business in the general merchandise line at Rosholt, accompanied Mrs. Moll to this city last Sunday and visited here during the day.

The Week Lumber Co. saw mill has been shut down for the season, having cut out all the logs at and in the vicinity of the plant, but the Clifford Lumber Co. mill is still in operation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kheil and daughter, Miss Vera, of Fond du Lac, are in the city today, visiting among their numerous relatives and friends, being on their way home from Minneapolis.

Gustav Borth, the veteran clerk of Eau Claire and one of that town's best citizens, was a business visitor to this city last Friday. He reports that forests fires had been quite threatening in that locality.

John Lieterski, whose parents reside at 612 Illinois avenue, was taken to the home of the feeble minded at Chippewa Falls, today, by Deputy Sheriff Merrill Guyant. The boy is 15 years old and is a victim of epileptic fits.

Mother used to spend half a day in getting ready to do her baking. Then she was cross all the time, because it was such hard work. Have you seen the smile on Miss Putnam's face while she is kneading up 12 large loaves? It is not hard work and only takes about 3 minutes. Gross & Jacobs.

R. B. Johnson has rented the F. J. Blake cottage residence on Church street, which has just been thoroughly remodeled, both interior and exterior, and will remove from Normal avenue this week. Mr. and Mrs. Blake expect to remodel the second floor of the Rice Machine Co. office into a commodious and attractive flat, and will occupy the same when completed.

You imagine the Universal Bread Maker would be hard to turn. Never in your life, unless you neglect to oil the bearings a little now and then, or get in too much flour. That would be your fault and a waste of flour. Come in and let Miss Putnam explain the whole thing. A little girl can turn it if she is careful about measuring the flour the first time or two. Don't get the dough too stiff. Gross & Jacobs.

Many of those who witnessed last Friday morning's parade expressed words of pity for a majority of the "old boys," whose halting step denoted that they were rapidly approaching the end of life's journey. On the other hand, several of the "vets"—notably Col. Joe Woodworth and George Gheba of Wausau—were just as active as the average men of forty. Father Time also deals lightly with E. D. Coe, the worthy commander of Wisconsin G. A. R.

Henry Martini, Aug. Frank and Miss Barbara Koltz left here last Thursday night for Algona, Barron county, to consult "Dr. Till," the celebrated healer. City Clerk M. V. Gross also spent yesterday at Algona, this being his second trip to that place. Mr. Gross has been suffering with spinal trouble for the past few years, and although he hasn't unbounded confidence in the "doctor," still he concluded to give him a trial.

Interesting announcements to those interested in financial matters and prosperity generally, will be found in this issue, and consist of reports of our three local banks, the First National, Citizens National and Wisconsin State.

The rain of Saturday night and Sunday brought a decided change in the weather, overcoats having been conspicuous since then, with a heavy frost Monday night. Little damage to the potato crop has resulted, so far as heard from.

Our stock of peaches and pears is getting low and the season is about closed, so if you are planning on doing any canning, you had better order now. Pears at 90 cents per bushel. Peaches 30 and 35 cents per basket, or in half bushel baskets from 75 to 90 cents. E. Frank.

Ed. Lange, who is now a senior at the state university, will devote a couple hours each day to teaching geology and mineralogy in the university academy. The position is a desirable one financially and will also give him much useful experience in a professional way.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church are collecting a car load of old magazines and paper, which they expect to complete in a few weeks. Anyone having anything of this kind that they are willing to contribute, will kindly notify Mrs. F. A. Southwick or Mrs. J. V. Collins and it will be called for.

Bread kneaded in the Universal Bread Maker is more wholesome because there is less raw flour in it. You don't add any flour after you start kneading. Every particle of flour has an equal amount of moisture, so that there is no unamalgamated flour in the bread. Much better for children; anybody, in fact. Gross & Jacobs.

The Dempke restaurant and store at 133 S. Third street will be re-opened for business tomorrow, it having been closed the past couple of weeks while many noticeable improvements were being made. A stone foundation was put under the structure, new floors laid and the building treated to several coats of paint and varnish. It was also connected with the sewer system and many other important changes made. Frank Stockley, the proprietor, is now better than ever prepared to attend to the wants of his customers.

A middle aged widow lady would like employment in a nice widower's home, with small family. Would go out of city if necessary. Address N. care The Gazette.

Dr. G. H. Atkinson, a Waupaca veterinary surgeon, was a visitor to the city on Monday, he coming here for the purpose of investigating some charges that had been made through letters written to the State Humane Society, connecting him with the abuse of a horse at the fair grounds during our recent fair, and of which he was entirely innocent. A proper and satisfactory explanation will no doubt be made at once.

What is Business?

It is the conduct of your affairs and the disposition of your money in accordance with the best business methods, no matter how trifling or how great may be the amount of money that comes to you. If you have but a single dollar and take a business view of the use and disposal of that dollar, you have a glimpse of the road to fortune. Men of fixed wages and salaries often think that they are not in business and that business principles are not applicable to their case. They are in business as much as anyone else, they need the business assistance that comes from a bank account. This bank welcomes the accounts of wage earners and salaried men, because a bank account is the surest step for them toward larger business and larger prosperity. A Checking account here will help you to save. We pay interest on time deposits and Savings accounts. One dollar starts a Savings account. In business continuously for over a quarter of a century. All business confidential.

SHOES FOR YOUR CHILDREN

Most boys and girls wear out shoes faster than you want to pay for them; but they have to have them just the same.

We make a special feature of having shoes that are made for just such wearers; shoes that will stand the kind of service they are sure to get. They are sold by

Ringness, the Shoe Man

One important fact about our shoes is that they are made to fit and we want to make a special point of this, because too often children's feet are neglected in fitting shoes. Some parents and some shoe dealers seem to think that anything that a boy or a girl can crowd a foot into is a good shoe to wear.

We can fit your children's feet perfectly in our shoes; and they will look stylish and well dressed. We can promise you the kind of service you want in wear, too, and the prices are low.

We have them for boys and girls of all ages, from primary to high school.

When you want GOOD SHOES, remember

Every day a host of sensible women give up bread making troubles and start to using a "Universal" bread-maker.

It will do the work for you better, too.

You should see Miss Putnam turning out about 200 little souvenir loaves of bread every day.

Have you had one of these sample loaves?

It's bread the doctor will recommend.

No More Aching Arms

Why spend your time in a hot kitchen, standing over a pesky kneading board?

A "Universal" will knead the dough in three minutes, and easier, too.

Come in and see for yourself.

Turn it a little.

Ask for a booklet.

Get a souvenir loaf.

Delicious Bread Always

If you use a "Universal" Bread Maker, you will have good bread, because there is no guess work about it. You put in the proper proportions of the ingredients and the machine does the kneading and does it well.

SOME GOOD EVIDENCE

Former Secretary Gage and Congressman Fowler on the Deposit Guarantee.

THE WALSH FAILURE CITED

Clearing House Action Like Plan Proposed by Democrats.

Guards Against Honest Bankers Suffering Runs—Modern System of Credits—Bankbook Should Be Worth Face Always

[By John E. Lathrop.]

Lyman J. Gage, former secretary of the treasury, may be regarded as sufficiently "conservative" to obviate fears that he would be "unsafe" in his banking views. Before the house committee on banking and currency in Washington Mr. Gage discussed national finances and particularly the national bank. He sought an illustration of the idea he was expressing, which in general was in support of the guarantee plan, and like many others found it in the Walsh failure in Chicago.

After explaining how the clearing house banks took over the assets of the failed institution, guaranteed all depositors, and prevented runs on other banks, Mr. Gage said:

Mr. Gage's Statement.
"Well, they learned another lesson and they adopted another principle, a principle provided for in this (the Fowler) bill. By the vote and voluntary compliance of all the members of the Clearing House association, they authorized the clearing house at any time and at stated periods to act upon its own volition and on its own account, and for the information of the clearing house committee itself to have full, complete and comprehensive investigation of each member of the association, and not only of each member, but of every institution that carries the name of bank over it that is cleared or represented in the clearing house by any clearing house bank; and I can tell you as a safe prophecy that we are at the end of disastrous failure in the city of Chicago by clearing house banks, since this regime has come in. I am told that Kansas City has the same thing, and other cities will eventually adopt it."

Representative Fowler, Republican.
Charles N. Fowler, Republican, of New Jersey, chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, appears in the Congressional Record with a house speech in support of his bill which provided for guarantee of bank deposits. He specially answered the assertion that such a guarantee would induce reckless banking, saying:

"Mr. Chairman, we are occasionally met with the statement that guarantee of deposits would lead to unsound banking. . . . Can you think of a banker, because he had insured his deposits, going into the directors' room and saying: 'Gentlemen, we have insured our deposits today. Now let us proceed to make some rotten loans?'
"Is it not possible that it will occur to those directors that their losses must come out of their profits, out of their reserves, out of their capital, and out of their reputations? Will they not realize that they can get nothing out of the guarantee until the last dollar of their capital, surplus and profits has been wiped out, and stockholders have been assessed double the amount of their stock?"

The Bankers' Reputation.
"Until their reputations have been injured, if not ruined, and possibly some of them have been started on the road to state prison? Can anybody think that any board of directors of any bank would be less solicitous, anxious and honest and wise after they had guaranteed deposits than they were before?"

"I assert again, after the most mature deliberation, that if there is one reason for insuring life and home, there are more than a thousand good reasons—more than ten thousand good reasons—why the depositors of the banking institutions of the United States should be insured."

Two Valuable Contributions.
These two men have offered valuable contributions to the discussion of the proposed guarantee of bank deposits. Mr. Gage has set forth the present trend of bankers towards a closer watchfulness over all institutions which accept the people's money in trust, and has indicated the exact means whereby, under a guarantee law, bankers would do as now they do—maintain an association empowered to look sharply into financial concerns which seem to be departing from sound methods.

His reference to the John R. Walsh failure in Chicago was doubtless because it was known to the country generally, having been given wide publicity and therefore most likely to attract attention as an illustration. However, there is scarcely a locality wherein bankers in late years have not come under toppling banks and upheld them by guaranteeing deposits wholly or in part, in order to help in the quelling of popular distrust and the undermining of confidence in all banking institutions.

No Delay for Depositors.
It is quite apparent that under guarantee of deposits there would be no alteration of conditions affecting banks now, so far as concerns espionage maintained by one over another. The important difference, however, would be that depositors would not be subject to the annoying, often disastrous, delays in getting their money which now they experience when banks fail.

But, that fewer failures would occur surely would be one of the results of such a law. Everyone knows that many runs are precipitated on banks which are absolutely sound. Many a man, faithful, safe, conservative, conscientious in caring for the money of his depositors, has suffered runs caused by some rumor started through malice. Many an honest banker has had his heart broken by senseless runs, and has groined in spirit as he realized that gross injustice has been done as reward for earnest and able keeping of the trust reposed in him by his depositors.

The Baring Failure.
When a dozen years ago, Baring Brothers, of London, suspended, it was due to that very espionage by other bankers to which Mr. Gage refers. The Barings had embarked in many South American enterprises, some of which were manifestly unsafe. The governors of the Bank of England, sensing the danger, refused to accept securities backed by them as basis for the issuance of bank notes under the custom of that country; that action never has been adversely criticized in any country, although it has been discussed ever since the world over.

Modern business is conducted on the basis for the issuance of bank notes the actual money passes from hand to hand.

Modern System of Credits.
You go to your bank with a bundle of checks and drafts and deposit them to your credit. Against that account thus opened, you draw checks. They pass into the world of business, are accepted at face value, and circulate virtually as does gold, silver and currency. If you pay your bills in checks, often you pass through weeks at a time when you have only a trifle of loose change in your pocket for street car fare and the small things you need from day to day costing too little to bother to draw a check.

"A check cancelled is a voucher," has become a maxim in the business world.

Complications of the System.
This complicates business and forces all banks to associate themselves in clearing houses, and probably the public would be amazed were they to know at times how sharply the clearing house committee looks into methods employed by its members.

In the panic that began last October, funds were carried from bank to bank, taken ostentatiously through the front doors, that depositors might know that other banks believed in the soundness of the institution which had been attacked by a run, and performed almost every essential of the guarantee system.

Why?
Simply because the modern business system is so complicated and so little actual money passes current that each bank must know that the others are properly safeguarding themselves and also that they are permitting the carrying of accounts by depositors whose paper may always be depended on as worth face value.

Beneath the Surface.
So beneath the surface, one could witness the clearing house associations examining collateral, securities and assets, and often serving notice on a given bank that the association will require some change in methods on penalty of refusal longer to clear for that bank.

Banks Out of the Association.
How about banks not in the association? Many perfectly sound banks are not directly in the clearing house. They clear through another bank which does belong.

Precisely the same rule applies to them, for when need arises, the association serves notice on the member bank which clears for the non-association bank as to what will have to be done; and it is done promptly, too, in every instance.

Bank-Book Should Be Worth Face.
The sense of the guarantee plan is that a bank book should be worth its face always. An entry in a pass book should not constitute the assumption of a risk by the depositor and the giving of wide latitude to the banker. Such entry should be recognized as just as actual an asset as a bank note.

Also, proper arrangements must be made for the continued espionage of banks by other banks.

Lastly, and quite as important, banking laws must be enforced; over-certification must be stopped; loaning of funds in national banks on obviously speculative schemes must cease; and other reforms must be wrought to invest the banking system of the country with that complete confidence which, if induced would put a stop to all nervousness by depositors.

The Restorative reaches out for the actual cause of these ailments—the failing "inside nerves." Anyway test the Restorative 48 hours. It won't cure so soon as that, but you will surely know that help is coming. Sold by all dealers.

After ten weeks of drouth, with fire and smoke, we finally got a welcome rain Sunday. For the past several weeks the fire on the marsh has kept the country around here enveloped in smoke, often so thick that one could not see across the street. The fires in the woods are extinguished, no doubt, but the marsh is expected to burn until snow melts in the spring. Hundreds of acres have burned over, in some parts less than a foot deep, but in many places as deep as the quicksand. The ashes helped to smother the fire to some extent, but on each windy day they would blow off into the woods and country surrounding. The fires have caused considerable sickness from smoke and ash.

SULTAN'S FIRST APPEARANCE IN PUBLIC

Perhaps the most astonishing recent change in Turkey is that which is represented by the spectacle of the sultan, Abdul Hamid, taking a drive. Until the threatened advance of two army corps upon Stambul forced Abdul Hamid to revive the constitution of 1876 the commander of the faithful never had dared to show himself outside the precincts of Yildiz kiosk, except for the Friday drive to the Selamlık in the Hamidieh mosque, which is practically within the grounds of the palace. By thus showing himself freely to his people Abdul Hamid has done a good stroke of business for himself, because the Turk is a patient beast of burden, absolutely loyal to his padishah, and only asking not to be ridden to the death by corrupt pashas and palace favorites. Hence the public appearances of the sultan have been the occasion of a series of outbursts of perfectly sincere loyalty.

SON OF MAN-EATERS

AMERICAN WILL TRY TO CIVILIZE CANNIBAL YOUTH.

Made Orphan by Tribal War He Is Adopted by Mining Engineer and Brought to United States—is Social Favorite.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Delighted with his surroundings in this city, where he has been but a few days, Samuel, an 11-year-old boy of the man-eating Chunchoo tribe of Peru, is enjoying himself to the utmost.

Samuel was brought to Los Angeles by Mrs. Chester W. Brown, wife of a mining engineer. The boy was the center of attraction on the voyage from Mollendo.

Mrs. Brown and her mother, Mrs. M. E. Louis, made the journey in 47 days, and on the ship the Chunchoo lad found much to excite his curiosity, but with true Indian stoicism he expressed little or no astonishment.

Samuel took his first automobile ride recently, and Mrs. Brown smiled, thinking that he would certainly show delight, but the little Chunchoo savage took it as a matter of fact.

Even the phonograph did not surprise him, and he acts as if he had known the telephone from his babyhood in the jungle.

There is a romance dark and bloody connected with the little Peruvian Indian boy's presence in Los Angeles. He comes from Mabre de Osie, near one of the rivers contributing to form the headwaters of the Amazon, and his kinsmen and ancestors have all been, and still are, genuine cannibals.

The Chunchos are regarded as exceptionally hostile and untamable. They range throughout what is called the "unbroken country."

Brown's company has received a concession of 2,000,000 acres of rubber for

DEER FOR MARKETS

REPORT ON POSSIBLE PROFIT IN RAISING ANIMAL.

When State Game Laws Are Amended Production of Venison May Be Widely Adopted on Vacant Lands.

Washington.—It is quite probable that some day, not far distant, deer meat will become as common and as cheap in our market as mutton.

Such is the belief of D. E. Lantz of the United States biological survey, who, in an exhaustive report issued by the department of agriculture, discusses the economic possibilities of raising deer and elk from a purely business proposition of profit.

Mr. Lantz even suggests that legislation be enacted which will make this possible, and in his report upon the matter he tells how it is possible to domesticate deer for the market.

ests, and during the road building Mr. Brown met the death-dealing cannibalistic Chunchos. A tribal war had just ended and Samuel and his brother were left orphans. A white man adopted Samuel's brother and will bring the lad up as a man servant; but Brown was determined to try to civilize Samuel.

Every instinct for hundreds of years past inherited by Samuel, the son of cannibals, is in the direction of the wild life of the jungle, the freedom of peak and plain. Mr. Brown realized the difficulties of his task, but was not deterred.

For one thing, it is only a short time since Samuel donned his first clothes; none of the Chunchos from time immemorial has ever known even so much as the use of a coat or trousers. The women live the simple life, after the true style of the Garden of Eden. Such intensely important feminine diversions as matching the color of a hat to the hair or coffee-colored complexion, of serious concern to American belles, is unknown in the Chunchoo country.

Brown first took Samuel as the lad was christened, to Tirapata, the outfitting town for the mines in that part of the country, and headquarters of the Inca Gold Mining Company, owned largely by Pittsburg capitalists. At Tirapata Samuel was taught the Cetchway language, the gabble of friendly natives that work in the mines and also show astonishing skill spearing fish.

After two years with these semi-civilized tutors the young cannibal was taken to Arequipa, an important city, and here he began studying Spanish, in which he made rapid progress.

Of English he still knows little. He says fluently "Good morning," "Good evening," and recently at dinner, after tasting a delicious soup, remarked politely that it was "very good chupe." The word "chupe" is tribal lingo for a dish that corresponds to American soup, and the little savage was quick to associate the terms.

Samuel spends much time amusing himself with other children, is a general favorite, and is making fast friends. His temper is sunny, his disposition even. He is quite a mimic, and recently was on the lawn indulging in all sorts of boyish pranks, such as swelling out his chest, imitating a policeman, taking a bit of palm leaf and pretending to shave his face, rolling on a blanket and cutting didoes to the delight of American boys and girls.

He also is learning rapidly lessons in politeness. He gets up briskly in the morning, when he is called. He will soon have a private tutor, and when Samuel can speak English he will be placed in the public schools. He shows exceeding fondness for fruit and meat. As might be guessed, he is a pronounced meat eater, and it also seems that he never can get enough fruit. His own people live largely on these two articles.

How Samuel will develop remains to be seen. Already he shows unusual interest in mechanics. On shipboard he surprised everybody by taking pieces of wood, rags and strings and building an excellent reproduction of a boat. He also draws pictures quickly and with some originality.

In physical appearance Samuel has round, intensely black eyes, a chubby face, coffee-colored complexion and raven black hair, and each particular hair stands on end.

game. Many state legislatures have already modified the game laws, and in this way, as a result, the deer and elk industry has been started in a few states with considerable success.

Arkansas, Minnesota, Missouri and North Carolina have so modified their game laws that deer can be raised for the market under certain restrictions. Many other states only permit deer to be sold to owners of reservations.

Mr. Lantz states that safeguards against the destruction of wild deer in place of domesticated deer are not difficult to enforce, and suggests a system of licensing private parks and of tagging deer or carcasses sold or shipped, so that they might be easily identified.

The report states that the best species of deer to raise for the markets is the Virginia deer, for it can be raised under any condition of food and climate.

The department of agriculture gives as its reason for advocating the domestication of deer for the markets the growing scarcity of game mammals in this country and the threatened extinction of some of them over various sections makes the preservation and development of the deer industry necessary.

That the industry is well under way in several states is best illustrated by reports received by the department of agriculture from owners of reservations. One of great interest is the following, written by C. H. Roseberry of Stella, Mo. In his letter Mr. Roseberry states:

My experience in breeding the common or Virginia deer covers a period of 17 years, beginning in March, 1891, when as a boy of 16, I built a small inclosure of one and one

VILLAGE IS BURNED

FOREST FIRES IN ADIRONDACKS BEYOND CONTROL.

WOODS ARE LIKE TINDER

Drought in the East Unbroken and Disease Epidemic is Feared—Rain in the North and West.

Utica, N. Y.—Forest fires in the Adirondacks are now reported beyond control of the hundreds of men fighting them. Long Lake West, a village of about 100 inhabitants, is reported burned and communication cut off.

Thirty-six days have now passed without rain, except for two sprinkling showers, and the forests are like tinder, catching fire from the smallest spark. There are probably 50 fires now burning. Prayers are being offered in all the churches. A fire was reported at Saranac Lake Sunday night. It is said a blaze started there in the middle of the village, but was quickly got under control.

Pittsburg, Pa.—The drought of 1908, which has held western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and West Virginia in its grasp for more than two months, remains unbroken, each day gradually increasing the seriousness of the unprecedented situation.

Aside from the millions of feet of timber destroyed and the daily loss to manufacturers and farmers, probably the most serious phase of the situation is the threatened disease epidemic. It is feared that when rain does come it will wash great amounts of filth into the already stagnant streams, with the result that disease, especially typhoid fever, will become epidemic.

Milwaukee.—Dispatches to the Sentinel report that forest fires which have been raging in northern Michigan and Wisconsin for some time past, were quenched by the heavy rains of Saturday night and Sunday, and that all danger for the present is removed.

St. Louis.—Rain began falling here at six o'clock Sunday morning and continued all day. The rain has been general throughout Missouri and extends down the Mississippi valley as far as Vicksburg.

BRITISH SHIP IS WRECKED.

Loch Finlas Lost and Twenty of Her Crew Drowned.

Launceston, Tasmania.—The British ship Loch Finlas, from Port Pirie, South Australia, for Callao, was wrecked off Foster island at daylight Sunday and 20 of the crew of 24 were drowned. The other four men were picked up by a passing steamer.

Foster island lies a short distance off the northeast coast of Tasmania and it is surrounded by dangerous shoals. Early Sunday the residents of the island observed a large ship in distress. A gale, accompanied by a high sea, was blowing and the vessel soon struck the reef. The crew could be seen trying to lower the boats, when suddenly the boat sank.

ARMY TRAGEDY AT MANILA.

Private Kills Lieut. E. J. Bloom and Commits Suicide.

Manila.—A tragedy occurred at Camp Jessman Saturday night which resulted in the death of Lieut. Edward J. Bloom of the Fourth Infantry and Private Suttles, Company N of the same regiment. Suttles for some unknown reason shot Bloom and then cut his own throat. Suttles died immediately but Bloom lingered until Sunday night. An investigation of the affair is being made by the military authorities.

DR. CROSSLAND ARRESTED.

Former Minister to Liberia Accused of Grand Larceny.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Dr. J. A. S. Crossland, formerly United States minister to Liberia and a negro political leader of national prominence, was placed under arrest here Sunday on a charge of grand larceny. Dr. Crossland is accused of the wholesale theft of drugs, cigars, etc., from a drug store of this city.

TRAGIC STORY OF DR. RUSTIN

Happening in Modern Life That Pales the Wildest Fiction Ever Evolved from Brain of Novelist

All the weirdness of fiction has been outdone by the wonderful case of Dr. Frederick T. Rustin, an Omaha physician and former Yale athlete, who was shot down on his own veranda as a result of a triple suicide pact in which the woman he loved was to be one of the participants. Here is a true story of the case in chapters. It is one that surpasses all the inventions of the most cunning mind.

Omaha, Neb.—Most coolly and calmly Mrs. Abbie B. Rice, the "woman in the case" in the Rustin murder mystery, said that Dr. Rustin had trained her up to the point of killing him, first familiarizing her with hospital scenes and then by working on the hero worship and sympathy in her nature had gradually worked toward the point where she could fire the shot which would kill him. Books of fiction in which one man died for another, and books in which great sacrifices were made for friendship's sake were read by Dr. Rustin to Mrs. Rice and commented upon by him until the woman saw the killing of Rustin by herself in a kind of a halo.

"For weeks and weeks Dr. Rustin trained me to murder him," said Mrs. Rice. "First, he trained me to the sight of bloodshed. He used to take me around with him when he performed operations. On these trips I dressed as a nurse in clothing he furnished me. Gradually I got used to seeing the operations, and there was no more nausea on my part. In time an operation did not affect me in the least.

"Nobleness and Self Sacrifice."
"After I became well advanced in that portion of his plan, Dr. Rustin began talking to me about the nobleness of self sacrifice. Books in which one friend sacrificed his life for another were read to me by the doctor, and their beauties pointed out to me. 'A Tale of Two Cities' was one of his favorites, and he read that to me a number of times. The character of Sydney Carton was eulogized and on Rustin's life, and the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford, and the Employers' Liability of London. Each of the latter companies have $5,000 on Rustin's life.

In each policy is a clause declaring void the insurance in case the insured died of intoxicants or while under the influence of intoxicants.

Here is the story told in detail:

CHAPTER I.
A mansion on the fashionable street in Omaha was ablaze with lights. The street in front was crowded with carriages. Others were dashing up and leaving. Handsomely dressed women were being assisted up the steps. The sound of the music and the gay conversation floated out to the street.

"Big doings," said one cabby to another.
"Bet your life," agreed his friend. "but I'm glad to see it. 'Doc Rustin's a fine fellow. He'll make a good husband for any girl. That fellow is a comer, all right. He is a good fellow, you bet."

And so he was. Almost anybody in Omaha asked casually that night would have told the questioner that Dr. Frederick T. Rustin, ex-Yale athlete, good fellow and one of the rising young surgeons in the west, was a man of whom Omaha was proud. And they were glad to see him marry a leading society girl. It insured him a fine practice, and if he would only stick to business in a few years he would be rich.

A few years after that night Dr. Rustin, established with his wife in a little home of their own, had started

Once well, for a while he tried to work and get back his practice, but the effort seemed to do little good. He made money, but the good-fellow instinct was too strongly developed. All that he had went, and more, too, in the gay life about town and with evil companionships.

And just at this stage there came into his life the other woman.
The wife to whom he owed allegiance was forgotten. The new woman held him in a vise. And then the money went faster than ever and the debts piled higher.

CHAPTER IV.
People had begun to say "What a pity it is about young Rustin." His actions were common gossip and his reputation as a surgeon was blackened. People did not want a man who might come to them with shaking hands and unsteady nerves. And again the idea which had led him to inoculate himself with typhoid and my wife and children. You have agreed to kill me. Now you must do it."

"I cannot," she sobbed. "I would only lose my nerve again."
The doctor thought. "All right," he said. "I will go out to the barn. You come around the back way. I will stand up and you will shoot me, and they will think that I was killed by a burglar."

Still protesting and half crying, he put her out of the house and started back himself for the barn. The woman started around toward the back, but when she reached the alleyway a man ran out of it, and again she lost her nerve. Jumping on a car, she started down-town.

CHAPTER VII.
Three days later when Abbie Rice saw Dr. Rustin he greeted her gaily. "I have found the man to do it," he said. "His name is Charles Edward Davis and he wants to die, too. He tetanus germs forced itself into his mind. But his two attempts had failed—and still there was the clause in his insurance policy forbidding suicide. He must die by the hand of some one else. Into the half-crazed mind of the physician there slipped a shrewd and diabolical idea as anyone had ever known.

"Do you love me?" he asked Abbie Rice.

"You know I do," she responded.

"Then if you love me, kill me," calmly suggested the physician.

The woman shrank back in horror.

"I will live for you, but I will not kill you," she told him.

"If you love me as you say, kill yourself afterward. I will arrange that, but you must not kill yourself so as to make any scandal. I want to spare my wife as much of that as possible."

The woman pleaded with him, but he was obstinate. He was drinking heavily and taking drugs, too, so he was not responsible for what he did.

"I'm going to kill myself," he declared bluntly, "but I have to have some one to do it. Now it is you or some one else."

CHAPTER V.

Then Abbie Rice consented. Together they went to a pawnshop and purchased a pistol. They had planned first to do the deed in the office of the doctor, but he was afraid that she would not be able to get away, so they went to the apartment where he had installed her. He loaded the pistol, cocked it, but in his eagerness drew the hammer so far back that he broke the spring. There was no other way of dying at hand. The killing had to be postponed.

For a week after that first attempt at suicide Dr. Rustin and Abbie Rice lived a life of wildest dissipation. They had gone to Council Bluffs and there had the pistol fixed, but the woman hoped that he had abandoned his plan of death. But at the end of the week he was back at his old plan.

She had given her consent, so there was no drawing back. Together, late at night, they went to his office. He showed her where he wanted her to fire the bullet into him.

"When I have fallen," he said, "you must slip away from the house. Get on a car, go to the end of the line, take out the empty cartridge from the pistol and throw it away. Then put in a fresh cartridge and shoot yourself."

"I cannot," she sobbed. "I cannot. I love you and I cannot kill you."

CHAPTER VI.

A wave of rage swept over Rustin. He stepped forward, caught the woman and shook her.

"You have got to do it. You said you would, and you have got to do it!" he cried fiercely.

She tried to plead, to argue, but it was no use.

"I have got to die for the sake of case" had told her tragic story—the story of the triple death pact. He looked gaunt and pale, and there were hollows under his eyes.

A policeman's hand fell upon his shoulder.

"You are arrested for murder in the first degree," were the words that met his ears.

Dr. J. P. Lord had named him before all the world as the man who was seen staggering away from the Rustin home, half an hour after the fatal shot was fired.

"Make the bail as high as you wish. We will meet it," said he.

He was admitted to bail and left the court with staggering footsteps.

What will be the outcome of the strange triple murder pact? No man can tell.

BADGER NEWS NOTES

WISCONSIN HAPPENINGS TOLD IN BRIEF FORM.

BADGERS DEFEND BRIDGE

In War Game at Fort Benjamin Harrison Third Regiment Is Active—Brown Army Falls Back.

Fort Benjamin Harrison.—The Third Wisconsin regiment spent a busy ten days at maneuver camp. The men were under orders all the time. The regular officers made a thorough inspection of the troops and quarters. The chief criticism of the national guardsmen brought to the post here is the filthy condition of the uniforms and equipment worn at inspection and the Third made a special effort to overcome this objection. When the companies had fallen in for the ceremony of inspection a finer appearing body of men was not to be found in camp and the condition of the quarters was above criticism. The most strenuous day's program comprised outpost duty and defensive work. The Third Wisconsin and First Kentucky, under command of Col. Holway of the Third Wisconsin, the blue army, successfully defended the Baker bridge, west of the post from the attack of the entire Michigan brigade or brown army, under Gen. Bates. No general engagement was fought but firing was indulged in by the outposts of the defenders on all sides. But the enemy found all vulnerable points too strongly supported to risk an attack in force and the umpires finally ordered the troops back to camp.

Anti-Vice Lid Covers County.

La Crosse.—The anti-vice lid, which for six months has been held down firmly over the city of La Crosse, has extended over the entire county, and for the first time ever known the whole county is without a disorderly house. After the closing of the resorts in the city most of the proprietors moved to the outskirts and set up new establishments beyond the jurisdiction of the city authorities. Monday the sheriff, with a large posse of deputies, raided all the county resorts, locked the doors and lodged the inmates in jail.

Rhineland Out of Danger.

Rhineland.—With the assistance of the fire departments of Milwaukee and Oshkosh there was no fear from forest fires in this city. The fires in this vicinity were confined to the slashings and the dense smoke was the result of the burning of the green foliage. Rhineland was protected by water on the north, south and west boundaries. There was no wind Monday.

Its Oldest Resident.

Platteville.—Jaul Jeardau, Platteville's oldest resident, was buried in this city, he having died at Verdi, Nev., while on a visit to his daughter. He was born February 4, 1819. He was first lieutenant of Company C, Thirty-first regiment from the beginning to the close of the civil war.

Price County Fair Fails.

Park Falls.—Forest fires surrounded this town for the third time this fall. Many homesteaders and farmers in Price county were homeless as a result of the fires. The Price county fair was a total failure, every one in the county being engaged in day and night vigils to save property.

Also Visit Shanagolden.

Grand Rapids.—Congressman James R. Mann of the committee of the house of representatives investigating the paper and pulp industry, left with his party after a two days' visit in this city, going direct to Shanagolden, where he visited the lumber and pulpwood camps in that section.

Fair Opens at Jefferson.

Jefferson.—The Jefferson county and Rock River valley agricultural fair was held here. The entries in the several departments were larger than ever before and the horse races, for which $4,700 in purses was set aside, were one of the features of the big fair.

Dies in Forest Fires.

Ashland.—While fighting forest fires which were threatening his homestead and that of his neighbors near Butternut, Julius Kwehl, Jr., was overcome, and being in an exhausted condition following his exposure for days and weeks, fell down dead.

Plead Guilty to Charge.

Racine.—Conrad Rottenger and Harry Erick, both of Burlington, proprietors of summer resorts at Brown's lake, pleaded guilty to operating slot machines and were fined $25.

Delegate to Farmers' Congress.

Neenah.—Joseph Reek has been appointed a delegate to the National Farmers' congress at Madison by Gov. Davidson.

Bury Household Goods.

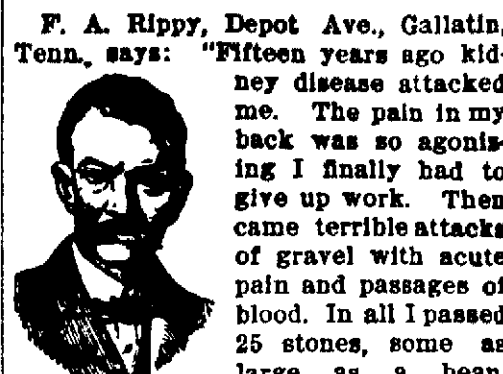

Tomahawk.—Forest fires about here increased. Fresh winds fanned the fires and new fires were reported each day. Settlers have been coming into town saying they had buried their household possessions and fled from the fires.

Tobacco Prices Soar.

Janesville.—Tobacco buyers report that the present crop will fall short in weight and leaf, owing to continued drought, and a cent a pound a week is being added to old goods.

AWFUL GRAVEL ATTACKS.

Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills After Years of Suffering.

F. A. Rippy, Depot Ave., Gallatin, Tenn., says: "Fifteen years ago kidney disease attacked me. The pain in my back was so agonizing I finally had to give up work. Then came terrible attacks of gravel with acute pain and passages of blood. In all I passed 25 stones, some as large as a bean.

Nine years of this ran me down to a state of continual weakness and I thought I never would be better until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The improvement was rapid, and since using four boxes I am cured and have never had any return of the trouble."

LEFT IT TO MRS. BROWN.

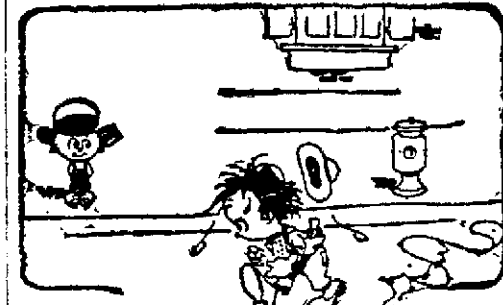

Reverend Gentleman Very Willing to Evade Responsibility.

The trust and dependence which characterized Rev. Mr. Brown's attitude toward his wife's judgment in all practical affairs were sometimes touching, but occasionally they were amusing.

"I'm sorry you've been troubled with the toothache," said the family dentist, when Mr. Brown appeared in his office one day. "I gave you the first minute I had free after receiving your wife's telephone message. Let's see, which tooth is it that's troubling you?"

"M-m, it's not aching just at present," said Mr. Brown, after a moment's hesitation, during which he made a cautious investigation with his tongue. "Didn't Mrs. Brown mention to you which tooth it was? I always rely on her in such matters."—Youth's Companion.

REASON FOR EXERCISING.

"Are you trainin' for a race, Jimmie?"

"Naw, we're goin' to have meat for dinner to-day an' I'm gettin' up an appetite."

His Mind Was Made Up.

It was during a trial in an Alabama city more than 20 years ago that one of the jurors suddenly rose from his seat and precipitately fled from the courtroom. He was arrested in his flight before he had left the building, and brought back.

"What do you mean by running off in that way?" asked the judge, who knew the man to be a simple, honest farmer.

"It's like this, your honor," said the man, earnestly. "When Mr. Hobbs finished talking my mind was all clear, but when Mr. Clayton began I was all confused again, and I said to myself: 'I'd better leave at once, and stay away till he's done,' for to tell the truth, I didn't like the way the argument was going, your honor."—Youth's Companion.

"I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For years I suffered with the worst forms of female complaints, continually doctoring and spending lots of money for medicine without help. I wrote you for advice, followed it as directed, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I should have been in my grave to-day. I wish every suffering woman would try it."

GOV. HASKELL RESIGNS AS BRYAN'S TREASURER

Outcome of Charges That He Was Connected with Standard Oil--Oklahoma Executive, the President and Democratic Candidate in Warm Controversy.

Chicago.—Charles N. Haskell, governor of Oklahoma, has resigned the trusteeship of the Democratic national committee.

He announced his retirement from active participation in the Bryan campaign and his withdrawal from charge of its money chests at 12 o'clock Friday night, after he had been three hours in Chicago.

The resignation was forced, Haskell's colleagues on the committee as well as Candidate Bryan himself giving the orders after seeing the Oklahoma governor's plight in the avalanche of oil, anti-labor, "promotion," and other charges.

When he had handed out his resignation letter the governor, with flashing eyes, declared:

"All those who have attacked me shall pay for it, from President Roosevelt down. He has by his acts placed himself in the position of a private citizen."

Chairman Mack, with the approval of Mr. Bryan, appointed Herman Rider of the New York Staats Zeitung to succeed Gov. Haskell.

Haskell's Letter of Resignation.

Gov. Haskell's letter of resignation follows:

Hon. Norman E. Mack, Chairman Democratic National Committee, New York City—My Dear Sir: In pursuance of information as to your date for return here, when I went home before, I assumed I would find you here upon my return to-day. I now learn that you will be detained in the east until Tuesday, and as I must be home on Monday I leave tomorrow.

Since the president and his cabinet have joined forces with Mr. Hearst and three Wall street brokers to make a personal fight against me, notwithstanding the president in his answer to Mr. Bryan abandoned his charge about Ohio Standard Oil cases, yet by all the means at the command of the government and the millions of Hearst and his Wall street allies, they persist in vicious, unwarranted, and untruthful attack on me. Personally, I welcome their attack, and shall meet it with all the vigor at my command. I shall treat them all as private citizens and subject to the penalties of the law which they merit.

In this I know I shall have the aid of my neighbors at home for all proper purposes; but my time must be free from other demands here. Again, my heart is full of hope for the election of Bryan and Kern. Honest government and rule by the people is at stake.

Important beyond any battle at the polls in the last generation is the pending contest.

I would not for one moment consider remaining in any way connected with the committee, therefore hereby tender my resignation as treasurer of the Democratic national committee, that not the slightest contest of my own could in any way be used by the president to cloud the sky and shield our opponents from discussing the real issues and laying bare the Republican duplicity to the people.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES N. HASKELL.

Bryan Reproves President.

Detroit, Mich.—The remarkable spectacle of a presidential candidate rebuking the chief executive of the nation for making statements deemed to be unjustified, was witnessed here when William J. Bryan in a letter to President Roosevelt defended Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, against the charge that he had unlawful connections with the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Bryan serves notice on the president that as the candidate of the Democratic party "I shall not permit any responsible member of the Republican organization to misrepresent the Democratic party in the present campaign."

The letter concludes with the statement that the Democratic party is making "an honest and honorable" fight in defense of its principles and policies, and expects and will demand honorable treatment from those who are in charge of the Republican campaign.

Roosevelt's Hot Reply.

Washington.—President Roosevelt, following upon a prolonged conference with members of the cabinet at the White House, prepared and gave out his reply to William J. Bryan, the Democratic candidate, relative to W. R. Hearst's charges that Gov. Haskell, treasurer of the Democratic campaign committee, had represented Standard Oil interests both in Ohio and Oklahoma.

Mr. Bryan had demanded proof of the charges, promising that in the event of their substantiation Gov. Haskell would be eliminated from the campaign.

Dismissing the Ohio case, which involved an allegation of attempted bribery, with the explanation that he had made no direct charge against Gov. Haskell as regards that particular instance, President Roosevelt takes up the matter of the Prairie State Oil & Gas Company, and argues that Gov. Haskell's action in stopping legal proceedings begun by the attorney general of Oklahoma demonstrates conclusively that he was controlled by the great corporation to which the Oklahoma company was subsidiary.

Declares Haskell Unworthy.

After contrasting Mr. Bryan's defense of Gov. Haskell with Judge Taft's repudiation of Foraker in connection with the Hearst charges against the Ohio senator, the president proceeds to declare that Gov. Haskell's "utter unfitness for association with any man anxious to appeal to the American people on a moral issue, has been abundantly shown by other acts of his as governor of Oklahoma."

The president condemns Gov. Haskell's conduct in connection with various matters as disgraceful and scandalous, and calls special attention to what he describes as "prostituting to base purposes the state university."

Bryan to Roosevelt.

Milwaukee.—Defending Gov. Haskell against the charges which have been brought against him "until the charges can be examined in some court where partisanship does not bias," William Jennings Bryan, Democratic candidate for president, on his way from Madison to this city, gave out for publication his reply to President Roosevelt's recent letter, in response to his telegram on the subject.

Mr. Bryan speaks of the election of Mr. Haskell as governor of Oklahoma, and says that "the constitution was adopted and Gov. Haskell was elected in spite of the efforts of your administration and in spite of the speeches made in Oklahoma by Mr. Taft."

Mr. Bryan charges, among other things, that the steel trust "with your express consent" purchased one of its largest rivals and thus obtained control of more than 50 per cent. of the total output. He asked the president if he will insist that "in permitting this you showed less favor to the monopolistic corporation than I do in opposing it."

President Hits Back at Bryan.

Washington.—President Roosevelt gave out a statement Sunday night that severely scores William J. Bryan and the Democratic party. It was called forth by the criticism of the president, Mr. Taft, and the Republican party's platform by Mr. Bryan.

In answering Mr. Bryan's claim that the Democratic party will pursue the anti-trust prosecutions more vigorously, Mr. Roosevelt asks a comparison of what the two parties have done when in power, pointing out that the last Democratic administration, that in which Mr. Olney was attorney general, instituted but four such cases, two of which failed and a third of which was decided by Mr. Taft in favor of the government.

In comparison to this is the record of the present administration with its mass of anti-trust and rebate cases, the vast majority of the decisions being convictions.

Haskell Urgently Handled.

The last part of the statement is given over to a denunciation of the political life of Gov. Haskell and the manner in which Mr. Bryan accepted the Oklahoma's service and defended him, even after the accusations against him became public. Mr. Roosevelt mentions many of the shortcomings of which he says Haskell is guilty and declares there are many others not enumerated.

Those specifically mentioned are:

That Haskell, as governor of Oklahoma, gave illegal privileges to the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil trust.

That he secured title to town lots in Muskogee, Okla., by fraud, drawing them by the use of a "dummy." Haskell now is under indictment on the charge, he says.

That Haskell offered a fee of $500 to an Arkansas lawyer if the latter would lobby in the Muskogee council for the passage of a certain franchise and then refused payment, although the franchise was secured.

That Haskell dodged payment of a judgment by a New York court for $42,235, and that a sheriff's execution failed to recover but $29.80 of this amount.

That Haskell was a member of the Citizens' Alliance, a body formed to fight the union workers and prevent the formation of any defensive body of laboring men.

Foraker's Hot Reply.

Cincinnati.—Senator Foraker prepared a statement which was made public Friday, replying to the recent charges made by William R. Hearst and President Roosevelt. In addition he bitterly assails Hearst, Taft and the president, charging Taft with consorting with Standard Oil magnates himself and declaring that President Roosevelt's actions indicate a guilty conscience.

In the opening paragraph Mr. Foraker declared that the president showed bias in accepting as true all the charges. He denied that he acted improperly in accepting employment from the Standard Oil Company, said that there was no secret about it and produced letters to prove that after the government began its attack upon the Standard Oil, he declined to accept a retainer from them. He charged that Mr. Hearst had other letters in addition to those which he gave out, and that these other letters, if made public at the same time, would have shown how harmless was his connection with the Standard people.

Taft Answers Foraker.

Albert Lea, Minn.—William H. Taft issued a statement in denial of certain allegations made by Senator Foraker in his statement. The Republican candidate does not touch on the general defense put up by the Ohio senator, but confines himself entirely to that part of the address which directly concerns himself.

There are two of these charges and they were denied in vigorous language. Both of them were meant to show Mr. Taft at least was in sympathy with the Standard Oil crowd.

The Judge Doyle Incident.

As to the first, Mr. Taft says: "Senator Foraker says I recommended Judge Doyle for a United States judgeship in northern Ohio and the president acquiesced in the recommendation when we knew that he was attorney for the Standard Oil Company, and argues that this is a justification for him, while a senator of the United States, in accepting professional employment from the Standard Oil Company and in making what was in effect a newspaper partnership with the Standard Oil Company to control an organ of public opinion."

"Judge Doyle held no public office and numbered the Standard Oil Company as one among a number of clients. I told the president Judge Doyle was a man of high character and a lawyer of great ability and experience and would make a good judge, but explained what his corporate professional connection had been, and the president, as between Doyle and Taylor, also an able man, preferred Taylor and appointed him, not, as I recollect it, for any reason discreditable to Doyle, but because Doyle's many corporate professional associations would make him less acceptable to the public and interfere with his usefulness as a judge."

Senator Foraker's second charge, that Mr. Taft accepted favors from a partner of Judge Doyle and a "magistrate in the glass trust" while at Middle Bass Island, Mr. Taft characterizes as ridiculous. He says he was the guest of the Middle Bass club, as Presidents Harrison, McKinley and Cleveland had been.

Hearst Hits Foraker.

Columbus, O.—Senator J. B. Foraker of Ohio was openly charged here by W. R. Hearst with being an agent of the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Hearst said that after the oil octopus had been driven from the Republican party by President Roosevelt the Democratic party had welcomed the Standard with open arms and adopted it.

Mr. Hearst read a series of letters from John D. Archbold, the Standard Oil man, to Senator Foraker. In these communications Archbold gave instructions to the senator in regard to what should be done in pending legislative matters, particularly as to bills affecting corporations, and in two of the letters referred to inclosures of certificates of deposit, one for $15,000 and another for $14,500.

Mr. Hearst also read affidavits from Monnett, connecting the name of Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma with the alleged effort to bribe him by Standard Oil men to drop his proceedings against the company.

Further Charges by Hearst.

St. Louis.—William Randolph Hearst went after Senator J. B. Foraker here stronger than in his Columbus speech.

Mr. Hearst first read a letter in which it was said that a certificate of deposit for $50,000 was inclosed. The letter purported to have been sent to Mr. Foraker and to have been signed by John D. Archbold.

Following this, Mr. Hearst read another letter said to have been signed by Mr. Archbold, in which the Standard Oil man suggested to Mr. Foraker action regarding a bill introduced in the United States senate by the late Senator Jones of Arkansas.

Gen. DuPont Resigns.

New York.—Following many rumors on the subject which were afloat here and in Washington, Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican national committee Friday night announced that Gen. T. Coleman DuPont of Delaware, head of the bureau of campaign speakers of the national committee, had resigned as head of that bureau and also as a member of the executive committee of the national committee and that his resignation had been accepted.

Old English Hotel Rates.

Old-time hotel rates in England were low. For instance, in the days of Queen Elizabeth the charge at the "George Inn" for a feather-bed, a night was one penny. Dinner cost sixpence (12 cents) and offered choice of "beef, mutton or pigeon or fish." In Stuart times each room owned a name, instead of a number, chiefly those of inn signs, such as the Cross eyes room, the Bell chamber, the Adam and Eve room, and so forth.

"Our baby boy broke out with eczema on his face when one month old. One place on the side of his face the size of a nickel was raw like beefsteak for three months, and he would cry out when I bathed the parts that were sore and broken out. I gave him three months' treatment from a good doctor, but at the end of that time the child was no better. Then my doctor recommended Cuticura. After using a cake of Cuticura Soap, a third of a box of Cuticura Ointment, and half a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent he was well and his face was as smooth as any baby's. He is now two years and a half old and no eczema has reappeared. Mrs. M. L. Harris, Alton, Kan., May 14 and June 12, 1907."

The Three Grades of Milk.

A city man took a house in the country for the summer. He sought out a farmer at once, looked over the cows on the farm, found them to his liking, and said:

"My servant will come to you every morning for a quart of milk."

"All right," said the farmer; "it will be eight cents."

"But it must be pure milk, mind," said the city man, "absolutely pure."

"In that case it will cost you ten cents."

"Very good. And you will milk the quart from the cow in my servant's presence?"

"Yes—for 15 cents."—Washington Star.

Sometimes Hard to Tell.

George Elliot says that the expression on a woman's face when she is sewing tells the story of the woman's heart. If she is happy and contented, or possibly slovenly and indifferent, she may smile and look the happiness she either feels or is incapable of feeling. If she has many things to worry her and is possibly planning how to make ten cents do a dollar's worth of good, or if she is naturally a vixen, it will show in her face, so after all it is not safe to predicate as to what her sewing face reveals.

Business Genius.

He who can be "all things to all men"—solicitous of one's patronage, comparatively indifferent to another; who can study his customer's likes and dislikes, and meet them in all their varying, and very often annoying, moods—is he who is going to be most successful. The ability to do this may be described as business genius—and it is perhaps the most rare genius in the world.—Men's Wear.

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

The French abhorrence of the bath is a nature is shared by many people, particularly one old woman up in an east Tennessee town. The town had just had a water system installed and the natives were "pining with pride" at their bathrooms and equipment where one could perform his ablutions at will without waiting and longing for Saturday night.

This old woman was an exception to the rule. She made her home with her son, and his wife, according to the mother-in-law, was "allus a hankerin' after somepin' newfangled."

A neighbor, who had been in to inspect the improvements in the house, remarked to the old woman:

"Well, Mrs. X—, this will be a pleasure for you—bath any time, night or day. You will certainly enjoy it."

"That I won't," said the old woman, tartly. "I been a member of the church 50 year an' always lived honest an' upright. Git inter one er them tubs? Me? Why, Sary Ellen, them things ain't decent!"

GOOD ADVICE.

She—When you are gone I shall pine away.

He—O, spruce up.

His Mind Was Made Up.

It was during a trial in an Alabama city more than 20 years ago that one of the jurors suddenly rose from his seat and precipitately fled from the courtroom. He was arrested in his flight before he had left the building, and brought back.

"What do you mean by running off in that way?" asked the judge, who knew the man to be a simple, honest farmer.

"It's like this, your honor," said the man, earnestly. "When Mr. Hobbs finished talking my mind was all clear, but when Mr. Clayton began I was all confused again, and I said to myself: 'I'd better leave at once, and stay away till he's done,' for to tell the truth, I didn't like the way the argument was going, your honor."—Youth's Companion.

He Could Not Read It.

While visiting in a small town in Connecticut, seven miles from the railroad station, I received occasionally a postal card from my fiancée, written in a kind of shorthand of our own. One day when a cousin was going to the post office I asked her to inquire if there was anything for me. She returned, saying there was nothing. The next day she made the same inquiry, when the postmaster showed her a postal card addressed to me and said: "Em, can you read this?" She said "No." Thereupon he said: "Neither can I, and I have been trying ever since yesterday." This illustrates the fact that curiosity is not confined to the fair sex.

Aptly Defined.

A woman in a town lying under the Rockies was much distressed at hearing a small clique in her town refer to themselves as the "smart set." She appealed to an ex-United States senator and asked him what he understood by the term "the smart set." He replied: "I think I can give you an inkling. In the eastern part of Colorado and the western part of Nebraska there is a large tract of land known as the 'rain belt.' It never rains there."

An Income for Life

Every man looks forward to the day when he may retire from the heat and battle of life, and spend his declining years in the enjoyment of a substantial income. (Oil like steel, has made a thousand millionaires.) Mr. Rockefeller made numerous speculations in oil, and secured a large and accurate knowledge of the oil business. He is now a second Standard Oil. Nearly all men who amass a competence owe it to the fact that, at some stage in their career, they secured stock in some corporation, which, as it grew and flourished, made their stock enormously valuable and gave it a substantial income, producing a comfortable and easy living, and means by which you may, at one lucky stroke, insure yourself.
